Vice President of Chamber of Deputies Is Assaulted by a Young Woman When About to Open Parliament; Finance Minister Caillaux, Depressed by Killing of Editor, Resigns Office.

PARIS, France, March 17.—A young woman singer assaulted Victor Augagneur, vice president of the chamber of deputies, as he was about to open parliament today. Much excitement was caused by the attack, owing to its happening so soon after the assassination of Gaston Calmette, editor of L'Echo.

M. Augagneur, who is a deputy from the Rhone department, was entering the parliament hall for the session, which was just ready to open, when the attack occurred. His assailant was arrested but was later set at liberty. The motive for her action did not become known.

M. Augagneur later presided calmly over the session of the chamber.

Minister Caillaux Resigns.
The French cabinet today decided to retain office in spite of the resignation of Joseph Caillaux, minister of finance.

Caillaux, minister of finance, whose wife yesterday assassinated Gaston Calmette, editor of L'Echo, appeared at the cabinet meeting and for a few minutes this morning in order to dispose of several urgent affairs of department business. He called into his private office several of the officials of the ministry and informed them of his resignation. The minister was extremely depressed.

Mrs. Caillaux is the minister's third wife. She is 35 years old and her maiden name was Henriette Balmont. She was the wife of Leo Claretie, from whom she was divorced.

Editor Made Many Charges.
The personal campaign of Calmette against Caillaux began on January 12, and since the attacks against the finance minister have been a feature of the paper. The fact that the campaign was inaugurated on the eve of the opening of the last session of the present parliament of deputies created intense interest in the charges.

Among these M. Calmette asserted that M. Caillaux had paid him $250,000 to M. Schneider, the legal representative of Marcel Prieur, who had obtained claim against the government on condition that 8 percent of that amount should be turned over to the Radical party as a campaign fund for the coming elections.

Carothers, special agent in charge of the American consulate in Juarez, was permitted to be present at the trial of a military court in Juarez, of James Lozano, an American negro, charged by the rebels with being a federal spy.

Carothers went to Juarez early in the day and was courteously received by members of the court. This concession in the Lozano case comes about a month after the killing of William S. WILL OFF 100 OTHERS JOIN FOR THE IN DASH FOR LIFE

Two Student Heroines, Discovering Flames in the Early Morning, Spread Alarm From Door to Door of Dormitory; Another Risks Life in Attempt to Save Records; Loss, $1,500,000.

WILLISLEY, Mass., March 17.—Two hundred and 50 Wellesley students and 100 other persons, including members of the faculty and servants, fled for their lives early today when fire destroyed College Hall, the largest and most pretentious of the buildings in the college grounds. No one was injured.

The loss is estimated at $1,500,000. College sessions have been temporarily suspended and special trains were made up to take the girls to their homes. Typically all those who had rooms in the building lost their personal possessions and clothing.

The behavior of the young women probably prevented heavy loss of life or injury to many who groped their way through smoke filled halls and down stairways and fire escaped to make the building a scene of confusion.

College Hall had a commanding site on a hill just east of Lake Waban. It was five stories high, with floor space measured by 50 by 125 feet. The building was divided into dormitories. Three hundred and 50 persons slept there last night. It was a fine building, with a large hall and a large library.

Editor El Paso Herald:

As an evidence of the rapid growth of El Paso and that the Herald as an advertising medium reaches the people, will say that last week we inserted an innocent looking little "Ad" of a 4 room house, and we had over 20 inquiries from two insertions; needless to say the house was rented promptly.

Tom Crutcher, of G. W. Crutcher & Son, Insurance & Real Estate Agents.
